SUGAR EXPERIMENTS.

(By Associated Press)
HONOLULU, T. H., Dec. 21.—Experiments will be conducted on two sugar plantations in this territory during the coming year toward utilizing the by-products of the sugar industry. Olan plantation, on the island of Hawaii, is contemplating the manufacture of paper from bagasse, the dry refuse of the cane stalk from which the juice has been extracted. This will be the first practical trial toward utilizing by-products of the industry in these islands. Sugar experts here say that if the various plantations will combine in the work of extracting potash from molasses sufficient potash to satisfy the entire demand of the islands can be manufactured.

ESSER MUST STAND TRIAL.

Judge Averil of the Fifth judicial district court today handed down a ruling on demurrer to information and motion to dismiss information in the case of the State of Nevada vs. John Esser. This is an action in which the defendant is accused of stealing nine head of cattle. The demurrer was overruled and the motion to dismiss the information was denied.

SNOWY PILES OF DRESSINGS AT THE T. A. R. ROOMS READY FOR SHIPMENT

There is now at the T. A. R. rooms 2622 surgical dressings ready for shipment to headquarters. These have been made by the local branch of the national surgical dressings committee and are correct in every particular, complying as they do with every requirement laid down for their making. They are of the same type and made in the same way as the millions of surgical dressings that have been made by this national organization and sent to the French hospitals during the past three years. The work on the other side is handled through a large distributing house in Paris.

In August of this year the national surgical dressings committee was made a national auxiliary to the Red Cross in recognition of its excellent work. The two organizations are now working hand in hand and co-operating in every way possible in order to accomplish the great end.

925 TOTAL OF RED CROSS SO FAR; 1500 IS QUOTA

Why a Red Cross Christmas 1917? Because through this organization relief is afforded that otherwise could never be handled. A single person is powerless to deal with the situation facing us on all sides, but if that person give his aid not only in a financial way, but through his moral support, the weak and wounded on the battlefields will not be wholly destroyed, the cry of the needy will not go unanswered, and the little Red Cross will carry on its meritorious work, the expression of all the belief, faith and hope in the outcome of this war.

Christmas has always been linked with loving, with giving. How better can you serve than by giving your membership to a great national purpose? You are carrying some part of the burden of the nation when you give to this organization. It is doing every bit of the relief work for your government; its history is an open book. What it has done in the past must be doubled, trebled, before the horrors of this war can stop. The West has never before had to be behind the East, yet unless the results each day improve we are going to lag behind them, not march proudly side by side with them, nor even lead them, but follow in the rear.

The West has always been made up of big, wholesome, generous pioneer spirits; perhaps we lack some of the ultra refinement, generally speaking; well, then, let's make up for that deficiency by an added amount of generosity, of wisdom, for surely it is the wise man who does best towards keeping the man at the front warm, healthy and secure in the belief that the people at home are behind him.

Nine hundred and twenty-five members was the figure at 6 o'clock last evening. Four days only are left in which to increase this to 1,500. Not a person in Reno should be seen without his Red Cross button, the emblem of wisdom, generosity, mercy and love. Serve your country in your way; protect the man who is protecting you and the ones you love; give, give, give, and know that as you give, so do you receive.

GEORGE WALSH AT THE BUTLER.

"Smiling George" Walsh, in William Fox's comedy drama, "This is the Life," will appear at the Butler today. This is a knockout, not only because George Walsh is the star, but his brother, R. A. Walsh, the man to put on the screen such plays as "The Honor System," "The Conqueror," "Jack and the Beanstalk," is the man who directed the making of this picture. R. A. is known for the many human touches he puts into pictures and in "This is the Life" he kept his brother, George, busy with many exciting stunts. The hardest stunts R. A. asked George to do George did with an apparent feeling that that was the life. George, in the story, sails for South America to guard his father's shipment of munitions. He meets a young lady and a count. He believes they are part of a motion picture company, when, as a matter of fact, the lady is the daughter of the American consul, and the count is a starter of revolutions. George joins the count and does not wake up until the government army in the South American republic catches him and orders him shot. He escapes and also rescues the lady from the count's band and, of course, is rewarded with her love. But this is not all of today's program by any means, for in addition to this excellent feature you will see William Duncan and Carol Holloway, in "The Fighting Trail," drive an automobile over an 80-foot embankment into a roaring river. This, and other death-defying stunts are just what make this picture the greatest and most thrilling ever produced.

Tomorrow, Jack Devereaux, in "The Grafters," a new type of crook play, and the dare devil cowboy, Tom Mix, in a two-reel side-splitting comedy. It's the last word.

MOONEY'S NEW CAFE WILL OPEN SUNDAY

The grand opening of the new Mooney cafe will take place Sunday, when a sumptuous repast will be served, the menu appearing elsewhere in this paper. Messrs. Pat Mooney and Jack Whitman have consolidated their business interests and have opened at the Montana cafe. The place has been thoroughly altered and renovated. One of the innovations is a steam table with porcelain lined crocks, keeping the food at proper temperature under hygienic conditions. The proprietors have ordered a carload of canned goods, vegetables and fruits, all of standard varieties. The order was placed before the recent rise in the price of foodstuffs. These goods will be kept in a sanitary cellar.

Private boxes have been installed for family parties. They are so arranged that they can be thrown together to accommodate banquet parties of at least twenty-five.
